Dear Joachim,

We would direct your attention to TR-0908414-TR-908442 and TR-0908413, which are documents sufficient to show Thomson Reuters' overall licensing strategy. Per the agreement of the parties, our production of these documents should resolve this dispute.

Best regards,
Miranda

Dear Joachim,

We were perplexed by your letter of February 24, 2022, as this issue was resolved already. During the February 7, 2022 meet and confer with your colleagues, Mr. Ghaffari, Mr. Parker, and Ms. Berry, Thomson Reuters agreed to produce documents sufficient to show Thomson Reuters' overall licensing strategy, and ROSS agreed to that. Thomson Reuters has produced these documents.

Best regards,
Miranda

Joachim,

Plaintiffs strongly disagree with the characterization of Plaintiffs' production in ROSS's April 14, 2022 email and April 18, 2022 letter. In particular, with regard to ROSS's April 14 email, Plaintiffs only agreed to produce documents sufficient to show Plaintiffs' licensing strategy, and they have done so. Transfer pricing documentation or documents related to actual expenditures have nothing to do with Plaintiffs' overall licensing strategy, and are far afield from what Plaintiffs agreed to produce. In the interest of compromise, last week, Plaintiffs produced additional documents showing their licensing strategy. Though it is doubtful that a discounting policy would fall under what Plaintiffs agreed to produce in response to this request, Plaintiffs can confirm that there is no written discounting policy to produce. We trust Plaintiffs additional production of documents and investigation into the existence of a discounting policy resolves this dispute.

Plaintiffs will respond to ROSS's April 18 letter under separate cover.

Best,
Eric

Miranda,

ROSS asked Plaintiffs to either produce documents related to its licensing strategy or provide a time for a final meet-and-confer on that issue on April 14, 2022. See J. Steinberg Email to M. Means, Apr. 14, 2022. ROSS made the same request regarding Plaintiffs' production of documents in response to RFPs Nos. 100, 101, 102, 123, 124, 125, 126, and 141. See J. Steinberg Letter to M. Means, Apr. 18, 2022. We have not heard back from you on either. Please provide your availability for a final meet-and-confer on both of these issues on Friday, April 29.

Kind regards,
Joachim

Re: Thomson Reuters Enterprise Centre GmbH et al. v. ROSS Intelligence, Inc., Case No. 20-613-LPS, Plaintiffs' Deficient Document Production (Licensing Documents)

Dear Miranda:

We write on behalf of ROSS Intelligence, Inc. ("ROSS") in response to Plaintiffs Thomson Reuters Enterprise Center GmbH and West Publishing Corporation's (collectively "Plaintiffs") production of licensing strategy documents.

ROSS first raised this issue in August 2021 in connection with Plaintiffs' discovery responses served in July 2021. See K. Ghaffari Ltr. To J. Simmons, Aug. 3, 2021. After protracted meet and confer efforts spanning through late February 2022, Plaintiffs still had not produced responsive documents despite conceding that these documents are discoverable and having agreed to produce them. In February 2022, ROSS requested that Plaintiffs immediately search for and produce documents responsive to Request Nos. 87 and 87 or make themselves available for a meet and confer. J. Steinberg Ltr. To M. Means, Feb. 24, 2022. In response, Plaintiffs claimed to have produced documents sufficient to show Plaintiffs' licensing strategy and identified two documents as responsive: TR-0908413 and TR-0908414. Email from M. Means, Feb. 25, 2022, 8:32 AM; see also Email from M. Means, Mar. 7, 2022, 4:34 PM ("Plaintiffs March 7 Email"). ROSS requested a meet and confer to discuss the two identified documents on April 14 and enumerated categories of documents that would likely respond to these requests. Email from J. Steinberg, Apr. 14, 2022, 6:00 PM. Plaintiffs continued to refuse to produce any other responsive documents, and once again claimed that it had already produced documents sufficient to show licensing strategy. Email from E. Loverro, Apr. 26, 2022, 5:02 AM. ROSS requested a final meet and confer, Email from J. Steinberg, Apr. 27, 2022, 2:25 PM, but Plaintiffs insisted that a final meet and confer was "premature." Email from E. Loverro, Apr. 29, 2022, 9:54 AM. The parties met and conferred telephonically on May 16, 2022.

Plaintiffs previously identified TR-0908414-TR-908442 and TR-0908413 as sufficient to show Thompson Reuter's licensing strategy. See Plaintiffs March 7 Email. These documents do not show Plaintiffs' licensing strategy. TR-0908413 is a one-page graphic that describes “vetting” certain customers. The document does not say if Plaintiffs license the Westlaw Content at issue in this litigation to each of the listed categories of customer, how Plaintiffs license the Westlaw Content at issue in this litigation to those categories of customers, or the license fees paid by each of these customers. TR-0908414 is a document titled “Thomson Reuters Legal 2021 General Policies Addendum.” This document relates to the policies governing Plaintiffs’ Sales Professionals, such as policies about commission payment, unprofessional conduct, travel expenses, bonuses, performance metrics, terms of employment. These policies do not show Plaintiffs’ licensing strategy, i.e., how Plaintiffs decided what to license, to whom it is licensed, and at what license fee. Moreover, the date of the document post-dates any of the activities at issue in this case. Certainly, ROSS is entitled to a document that pertains to the dates at issue in this case—2015 to 2020.

Plaintiffs later produced another set of documents in connection with Plaintiffs’ April 26 email, but this document, TR-0908708 still does not satisfy Plaintiffs’ production obligations. TR-0908708 is a 2019 Sales Policies and Procedures document [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] It does not describe or discuss the licensing strategy for the Westlaw Content at issue in this litigation or otherwise show why Plaintiffs license the Westlaw Content at certain prices, how Plaintiffs determine the licensing value, what costs related to the Westlaw Content are considered to determine licensing value, and thus is not responsive to these requests.

During a telephonic meet and confer on May 16, 2022, Plaintiffs attempted to shift the burden to ROSS to identify documents missing from Plaintiffs’ production. It is not ROSS’s burden to guess at the type of documents that Plaintiffs have in their possession and ROSS cannot accurately guess what particular licensing strategy documents Plaintiffs have within their possession, custody, or control. But ROSS suspects that Plaintiffs have documents in the following categories that would respond to Requests 87 or 88:

- Documents showing decisions by Plaintiffs to license the Westlaw Content at issue in this litigation;
- Documents showing decisions by Plaintiffs determining what Westlaw Content at issue in this litigation to license;
- Documents showing pricing decisions by Plaintiffs for the Westlaw Content at issue in this litigation
- Documents showing why Plaintiffs license the Westlaw Content at issue in this litigation at different prices;
- Documents showing how Plaintiffs determine the licensing value for the Westlaw Content at issue in this litigation;
- Documents showing what costs related to the Westlaw Content at issue in this litigation do Plaintiffs consider to determine licensing;

- Documents showing decisions by Plaintiffs to license or not license the Westlaw Content at issue in this litigation to certain categories of customers;
- Documents showing Plaintiffs' decision to offer or employ a discounting policy for the Westlaw Content at issue in this litigation;
- Documents showing the discounting policy [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
- The transfer pricing documentation for prepared annually for each of the Westlaw Content at issue in this litigation as referenced in TR-0358927
- Documents showing the actual expenditures in 2018 and 2019 for "Westlaw US" initiatives including "Westlaw EDGE," "WLN General Enhancements," "Global Intellectual Property," and "JWB-Judicial Workbench." As identified in TR-0908447;
- Documents showing how costs affect Plaintiffs licensing strategy for the Westlaw Content at issue in this litigation
- Documents identifying the factors that Plaintiffs consider when determining the licensing numbers for the Westlaw Content at issue in this litigation;
- Documents showing the costs associated with producing each of the Westlaw Content at issue in this litigation; and
- Documents showing the effect that the costs associated with producing each of the Westlaw Content at issue in this litigation has on the licensing prices for such content.

All of the above categories of documents would respond to at least one of the document requests raised in this letter. Please confirm by June 13, 2022 whether Plaintiffs will be producing such documents and provide your availability for a final meet and confer the week of June 13, 2022.

ROSS reserves all rights and waives none.

Very truly yours,

Searching with Topic and Key Numbers

Retrieving Cases on WestlawNext

Each legal issue in a case published by Thomson Reuters is identified, summarized in a headnote, and assigned a topic and key number in the West Key Number System®. If you are fortunate enough to find a case on point early in your research, you can use the topic and key numbers in this case to search for other cases discussing the same legal issues. You can also use the West Key Number Digest to search for topic and key numbers and then retrieve headnotes classified under those topic and key numbers.

Searching with Topic and Key Numbers

If you have already identified a topic and key number associated with a legal issue you are researching, you can retrieve cases or headnotes in the following ways:

- Run a search at the home page using that topic and key number. For example, to search for cases with headnotes classified under topic 115 (Damages) and key number 101 (Expenses), type 115k101 in the search box at the top of the page, change the jurisdiction if necessary, and click Search.
- Run a search at the home page using that topic and key number in conjunction with other search terms. For example, to search for cases with headnotes classified under topic 115 and key number 101 that relate to medical expenses, type a search such as 115k101 /p medical in the search box (Figure 1).

WestlawNext is available on the Web at next.westlaw.com.

- When you are viewing a headnote in a case, click the topic or keyline above the headnote or click a topic or key number in the classification hierarchy next to the headnote (Figure 2). A list of headnotes classified under that topic or key number—from cases in the same jurisdiction as the case you were viewing—is displayed.

Note If the classification hierarchy is not displayed next to the headnote, click Change View at the beginning of the West Headnotes section of the opinion (see Figure 2).

Using the West Key Number Digest

The West Key Number Digest contains the complete topic and key number outline used by our attorney-editors to classify headnotes. The West Key Number Digest helps you identify topic and key numbers related to your issue and to headnotes classified under those topic and key numbers.

Free vs. Westlaw : Why you need the West Key Number System

Maggie Keefe
Reference Attorney

🕒 4 min

Every legal researcher's goal is to find the best way to zero in on a particular legal issue and quickly find on-point cases. However, with the huge amount of information available on the internet, is it really possible to find the perfect case quickly? Even if you are able to find a relevant case quickly, can you feel confident that there isn't another case out there that is a better fit? Surprisingly, the answer to both of these questions is yes. The best way for an attorney to ensure that they are relying on arguments that reflect the true nature of the law is to use KeyCite on Westlaw and Westlaw Edge.

About the Key Number System

The Key Number System was the first of its kind when created by West Publishing more than 100 years ago. A master classification system of U.S. law, the Key Number System allows our Attorney Editors to organize cases by corresponding legal issues and topics. Our Key Number Digest books help legal researchers quickly and efficiently find relevant case law among the stacks and shelves in vast law libraries. Few analog tools have made the transition to our digital world better than Key Numbers, and using Key Numbers on Westlaw can make quick work of complicated legal research tasks. Use any of the methods below to take advantage of West's Key Number System, integrated with KeyCite on Westlaw and Westlaw Edge.

WESTLAW EDGE - PLANS AND PRICING

Explore and customize Westlaw Edge plans that meet your firm's unique needs

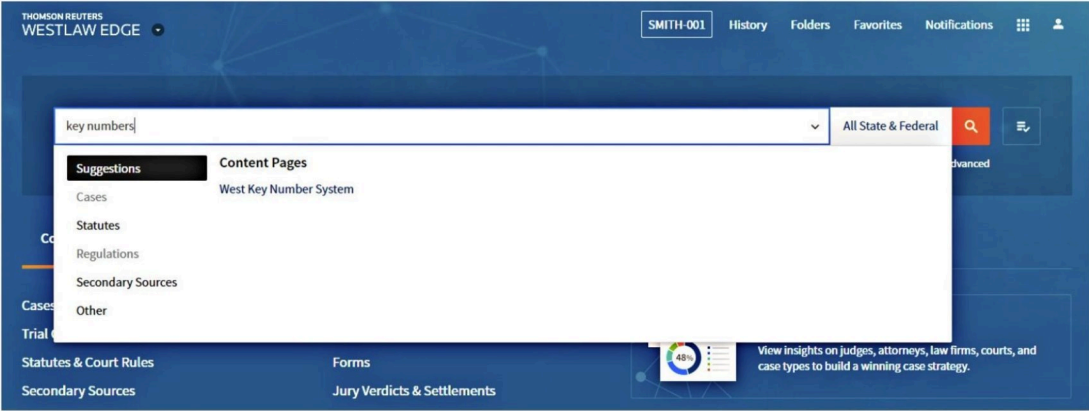

Browse comprehensive Key Numbers to pinpoint legal concepts

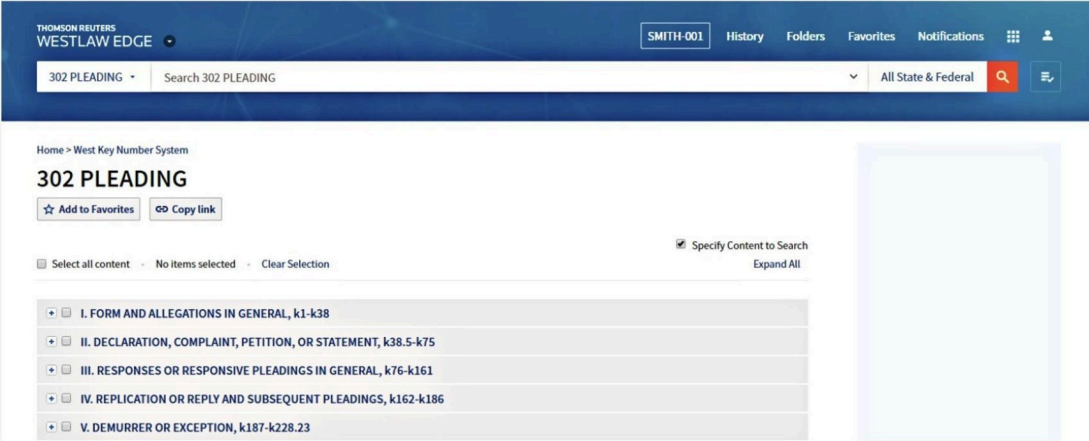

The first step in utilizing the Key Number System is finding an applicable Key Number. The Westlaw homepage link to “Key Numbers” allows you to browse to level of specificity by topic. Alternatively, a link appears under the Content Pages autosuggestion when you start to type Key Numbers in the search bar at the top of the screen. WestSearch Plus on Westlaw Edge provides superior research suggestions right from the search box, then provides the most relevant text for your legal query without the need to dive into a result list.

Content types	Federal materials	State materials	Practice areas
Cases		Briefs
Trial Court Orders		Expert Materials
Statutes & Court Rules		Forms
Secondary Sources		Jury Verdicts & Settlements
Practical Law		Key Numbers
Regulations		Proposed & Adopted Regulations
Administrative Decisions & Guidance		Proposed & Enacted Legislation
Arbitration Materials		Trial Court Documents

By clicking these links, you are brought to the West Key Number System content page. Narrowing by topic will ultimately take you to a list of headnotes, the equivalent of a particular Key Number Digest in print. From here, you can run a search or narrow by jurisdiction as needed.

If you navigate back to the main Key Number page, you can see two options: search headnotes or Key Numbers and topics. The main search bar at the top of the screen will search across all of the headnotes within the Key Number System. This is helpful to find headnotes related to your issue and then see where they are classified within the Key Number System. The second search bar in the gray box searches only Key Numbers and topics. This option helps to find specific Key Numbers that use the language you have, whereas the search in headnotes provides a broader option to find helpful headnotes or related Key Numbers.

LOCATE cases discussing similar legal concepts and principles

Finding one case on point will directly lead you to others through Key Numbers. Headnotes are summaries of specific points of law addressed in a particular case, drafted by Westlaw Attorney Editors to ensure that topics include relevant cases even where those cases may use atypical language. Applicable headnotes are always listed at the top of a case, and provide a good alternative entry point into the Key Number System. After reviewing cases and locating a helpful headnote, click into the Key Number System through the classification hierarchy next to the headnote. (You can change the headnote presentation using the view options at the top right of the first headnote.)

After choosing a Key Number, you can search within using the box along the left, or you may look in a different jurisdiction by using the Change link under the Key Number heading at the top of the page.

WEST KEY NUMBER SYSTEM ON WESTLAW NEXT

The most widely used classification system for American law on the world's most advanced legal research system

The West Key Number System® is the master classification system of U.S. law and widely regarded as the cornerstone of effective legal research. For over 100 years, West Topic and Key Numbers have offered legal researchers a convenient way to zero in on a particular legal issue and quickly find on-point cases. Now on WestlawNext®, WestSearch® incorporates our proprietary analysis of the law with cutting-edge search technology to deliver the best results even faster.

Why use the West Key Number System?

- It is comprehensive and precise. West attorney-editors index cases into more than 400 topics and 98,000 points of law, enabling you to quickly find other cases that address your exact legal issue – in any jurisdiction.
- It helps you search for legal concepts. Legal research is often a hunt for principles or concepts not easily retrieved with literal word searches. The Key Number System identifies and indexes legal concepts so you can find cases stating or applying a legal concept, even if those terms aren't in the opinion.
- It helps you find what you need faster. Easily identify on-point Key Numbers by browsing or searching the outline on WestlawNext. Or, click on Key Numbers inside documents to quickly locate cases with the same or similar legal concepts and principles.
- It is current and accurate. As the law evolves, so does the West Key Number System. Each year, we make hundreds or even thousands of changes – adding new Key Numbers for emerging topics and reclassifying expanding areas of the law. Plus, it's completely integrated with KeyCite®, so you'll know the cases you rely on are still good law.

INSIDE: See how to use the West Key Number System and how the WestSearch algorithm automatically leverages it for you.

FIND SIMILAR CASES ON A LEGAL ISSUE

Each legal issue in a case published by West is identified, summarized in a headnote, and assigned a Topic and Key Number in the West Key Number System. This arrangement of breaking a court opinion into distinct points of law and then classifying each point with a number has made the West Key Number System the de facto classification system for all American law. Finding one case on point leads you directly to others – in your jurisdiction or any other – so you'll be confident that you haven't missed anything.
